3. Purpose of processing personal data and data to be stored

Each team needs to have a contact person so the tournament organiser can contact the team. The following information is stored about the contact person: name, address, email and phone number. Player information is stored for the match playing times. The following information is stored about players: name, year of birth and match events. Names of team personnel are stored.

4. Retention of data

Information of team contact persons are stored for 18 months after the tournament. The birth dates for all players are removed 1 month after the tournament.

Names of the players and match records are stored for the statistics archive for an indefinite period.

5. Data sources

The team's contact person is also responsible for adding the team's personal information to the system. The tournament organiser enters the match events associated with the players.

6. Disclosure of personal information

Information will not be disclosed to third parties, excluding the registry administrator and rescue authorities. Match events associated with the players are visible on the public results site of the competition.

Information will not be disclosed outside the EU.
